* This mind-body form of exercise emphasizes controlled breathing during movement while focusing on what the body is doing. It also focuses on developing strength, flexibility and stability in the core - abdomen and back – to build a foundation from which to rebalance and realign the body. In summary, Pilates mat work is a series of movements that flow from one to the other, causing muscle groups to strengthen and stretch according to their biomechanical needs.

Cindy Herbest is a Certified Pilates Instructor, having had her training at Springfield University through YUSA and completed the course in May 2006.

CURIOUS NOTES

Submitted by Victoria Eastman

Three Saturdays ago we rearranged our middle room. It took all day and part of Monday. It was really fun! Doing that helps us to remember what we have. This past week we rearranged the front window.

Quite a varied assortment of items have been added to or replaced the previous display; antiques, books, clothes, collectibles, dog bookends...well, almost everything from A to Z.

We would like to invite you in to our two sales. Our super short sale offers 50% off shorts and short sleeve tops and dresses.

We are also offering 20% off all Child Haven International Products. These items were made to raise funds for orphanages in India. Proceeds from these purchases will go directly to Child Haven International. Please remember that parking is available across the street from us at the United Kingfield Bank.

Lately I've been reading books by Iris Johansen. She has several main characters, one of which is Eve Duncan, a forensic sculptor. These books are fascinating and suspenseful! The author liked Even Duncan so much that she was compelled to write more books involving this character. Mom gave me the ones she has read. It was meant to be as the author gave one of the characters my grandfather's name, Ralph Fraser and another my aunt's, Margaret Wilson. This is purely coincidental but obviously a sign for me to read them.

Here is a description of the first Iris Johansen book I read: The Killing Game. The killer knows Eve Duncan all too well. He knows the pain she still feels for her murdered daughter Bonnie, whose body has never been found. He knows that as one of the nation's top forensic sculptors, she will insist on identifying nine skeletons unearthed on a bluff near Georgia's Talladega Falls. And he knows that she will want to believe that the skeleton belonging to a young girl is Bonnie's.

REMEMBER: DON'T JUST SIT THERE - READ!

66th Reunion Held by
 The MHS Class of 1940

On Sat, Aug 19, the Milo High School Class of 1940 celebrated their 66th reunion at the camp of Eddie Ricker on Schoodic Lake. Eddie was a marvelous host treating his classmates, friends and family to togue caught in Schoodic Lake and baked in clay in an open fire pit. One of his sons had picked and frozen enough fiddle heads that we all enjoyed as much as we could eat. All of this was accompanied by hot dogs and hamburgers cooked on the grill, corn on the cob, potato salad, fruit salad and seafood salad. The crowning glory of the meal was Old fashioned Apple pan dowdy (also made by Eddie) topped with whipped cream.

Six classmates were able to attend: Phyllis Dixon Weatherbee, Manira McCorkquindale Brown, Meta Kenney Staples, Robert Hamlin, Joe Villani and our host Eddie Ricker. This is the first reunion we have had in several years and hope to do it again next year.

Free Workshops Help Micro-enterprises

Greetings to all the citizens of the Piscataquis Valley Region.
We can help you achieve the following:
High School Diploma-Transition to College -Credit Courses
Learn Something for Fun -Career Change

As summer comes to a close, we often think about what it is we can do to improve ourselves. The children are back in school, and routine schedules are being planned. Is there room in your schedule for your own interests? Is there something you wished you could do better? Is there a skill or craft you would like to know? Is a job/career change in your future? How about college?

PVAEC can help you in any of these areas. We have academic courses to help you gain your diploma or brush up for post-secondary courses. GED is another avenue to travel for high school credentials. We offer classes and testing every week at all our sites. PVAEC is working with the community college system to assist in a smooth transition into college level work by providing refresher/developmental courses at a fraction of the college tuition price. The Piscataquis Valley Adult Education Cooperative helps meet the needs of life-long learners (which we all are).

Also, if you have a passion, interest, or talent you would like to share, please consider becoming an instructor.

To best serve you, I need your input, and encourage your ideas and suggestions. Please feel free to call 564-6525 or drop in our main office in Dover-Foxcroft.

Sincerely,

Thelma Regan

Free Public Library News

By Judith Macdougall

Can you believe that summer is nearly over? June, July and August have simply flown. Labor Day is just around the corner making summer officially over, although we do get lots of lovely warm days in September and even into October. Someone mentioned to me the other day that they had heard that October and November were suppose to be mild. That is good news to hear after I prepaid my oil for next winter at $2.69 per gallon. We are in an economical time at the library right now. We don't need the air conditioner on nor do we have the furnace running. We are just comfortable for the moment.

We are still collecting the recalled bendable dog and cat figures. We have received some at the library this past week and are looking for more. These bendable dog and cat figures are being recalled for having a higher lead limit than is permitted. My question is:-"Why is there any lead in a child's toy anyway." We will be receiving instructions on how to return them to Highsmith sometime next week. For safety's sake for your child, you can throw them away, but the state toxicologist would prefer to have them returned to libraries in order for the recall to be evaluated effectively. Of course, too, if you bring them back to the library, you can be sure they will not be picked out of the trash by an inquisitive child. Please be sure to let the parents of any child who was a member of the Paws, Claws, Scales & Tales summer reading program know that there was a recall on the bendable figures in case they haven't heard of the problem. If they have any questions, they can call the library for more information.

Prior to our July 22nd book sale we received donations of many children's books-mostly paperback, but also some hard covers. We sold a good many of the books, both the donated and library discards for $.10 a piece at the sale, but still have many books left over. We have a table full of juvenile books downstairs. If you would like to buy any for your children, we will be selling them for $.05 each. We will have them on sale for the next few weeks, but the sooner you come, the better will be your selection. Come in any time we are open, and ask to see the children's books on sale. We would like all the children's books we have on sale to go to good homes to be enjoyed by children again.

We also have posters left from the poster contest. We will try to remind the artists when they come into the library to pick up their posters, but please try to remember too. All the posters are interesting and show great creativity. We're sure you want them at home to display for your families.

There are a few more leftovers from the summer reading program party too. Every one who participated receives a reading certificate and a reading bracelet and zipper pull. We certainly want every SRP member who did not receive their "goodies" to come in to pick up their treasures.

We received more new adult books last week. They are all ready to circulate.

Traditions of a Milo-ite

By Kathryn Witham

I have spent a few minutes this week looking over old columns. What did I write about a year ago? I'd made a trip to Bangor with my granddaughter and done some school clothes shopping. I wrote a column on "hump day" and another one on the poor sad lot of a housewife back in the 40's and early 50's when housewives didn't have any conveniences like automatic washing machines or microwaves. I wrote about my talented husband and the wonderful things that he had built for me and another on organizing my closets. I had such energy....just a year ago!

As I ponder topics for this week, I'm beginning to realize that I'm leading way too sheltered an existence. I haven't done much of anything for weeks!! I haven't a thing interesting to share. Well, that is unless you might want me to talk about my dream for the old Milo Theater..."She's like a dog with a bone with that one!" I know that's what you're saying. I could tell you all about the Senior Barbecue's that the Kiwanis Club has held for our friends who live in the senior citizen housing projects in Milo, Brownville, and LaGrange. Those were fun. The food was delicious, the Kiwanians who traveled site to site had a great time, and the seniors who attended our fun picnics loved the food. I could talk about getting ready for yet another year at school....it's gettin' easier all the time!! Or, perhaps you'd like me to catch you up on those precious grandchildren of mine....oh how I love them.

I could bemoan the Red Sox nose dive....Yikes! What happened to them? I could discuss the recent interview with my idol Barry Manilow that I watched on Inside Edition. I could tell you how much I will miss my Sirius Radio when we finally get moved home from camp for the season. It's so entertaining when there is absolutely nothing on summer television. Thank God for my standards station and my 50's and 60's station. Last weekend I spent Sunday laying around and reading....my radio stations playing in the background. It was a wonderful day.

Sunday morning I got up and watched my Hour of Power...coffee cup in hand...a wonderful way to begin a lazy Sunday at camp. I then got settled down reading my book. At lunchtime my husband wondered if we were going to have a little lunch. "Sure!" Up I got off the couch and fixed lunch....more on that later. After lunch I thought I might shower and get dressed. After all that...back on the couch for the rest of the afternoon....finished that book and started another. It's a series, so I've got them lined right up in the order in which I'm going to read them. At suppertime my husband asked if we were going to have supper. "Sure!" Dragging up a little slower, I fixed supper and then, begrudgingly, did a quick pack job and we headed for town. Now, I don't know what I would have done if I'd been in town all day....but to my knowledge I've never felt that I could just piddle away a day reading and not accomplish one other thing. That's what I like about camp. That's really what I love about summer.

But, all good things must come to an end. In another couple of years we may be enjoying the "camp" year round. Will I be happy about my former lazy sanctuary being my year-round home? Hard to tell. It won't be the same, that's for sure. You just can't laze away day after day and get away with it in your house...or at least I can't. They tell me that people who are retired find more to do than they possibly have time for...and wonder how they ever worked. I've heard it time and time again. I can't imagine it, but I sure will be willing to put that theory to the test. In the meantime I've come to the end of my column and still haven't found anything to write about. You'll have to forgive me.

For lunch we had a Chicken Salad Club Sandwich. I'm sure I've told you about it before, but it's good enough to repeat. I buy 1/2 lb. chicken salad from the deli at the MFU. You can get 4 sandwiches from this amount

1 or 2 slices of bacon per sandwich

lettuce leaves washed and patted dry with paper towel

tomato (2 slices per sandwich)

Rye bread

Jack Daniel's honey Dijon mustard (or some other brand of honey mustard)

Swiss cheese slices (I buy 3 or 4 because you can get more than one sandwich from a slice)

Spread the honey Dijon mustard on one slice of bread, layer the chicken salad, bacon, Swiss cheese, lettuce and sliced tomato. Top with the other piece of Rye (spread a little of the mustard on that piece, too, if you wish). This is a delicious sandwich. We've had them a couple of times this summer with fresh ripe tomatoes from the garden in them. Yummo!

Eleanor Heath (93 years) of Milo, presents Project Linus blankets to Merlene Sanborn, Coordinator of the Eastern Maine Chapter. Eleanor has been making Linus blankets since four years ago, and this installment of 13 blankets completes her goal to make 100 blankets! That's 100 hugs for Maine kids!

Project Linus is national, non-profit organization that distributes hand made blankets to children in critical care or trauma situations. Nationally, Project Linus has distributed well over a million and a half blankets. For more information check out the website at www.projectlinus.org or contact Merlene Sanborn at 965-8005, mainelinus@panax.com.

IN MEMORIAM

CYRIL F. GRAY

LAGRANGE - Cyril F. Gray, 85, husband of Clara E. (Grindle) Gray, died Aug. 18, 2006, at a Howland nursing home. He was born July 16, 1921, in Dallas Plantation, the son of Willard and Della (Adams) Gray. Cyril had been employed by the Maine Department of Transportation as a truck driver for many years. He is survived by five sons, Stanley and his wife, Betty Gray, of Orneville, Willard and his wife, Paula Gray, of Medway, Steven Gray of Enfield, Ken Gray and his friend, Joyce, of Alton and Robert Gray of Garland; a daughter, Debra and her husband, Timothy Boobar, of Medford; a sister, Helen Howard and her friend, Fido, of Farmington; eight grandchildren, Melinda, April, Maria, Steven Jr., Angel, Amanda, Larry and Kelly; 14 great-grandchildren, several nieces and nephews.

RICHARD S. POLLARD

ADDISON - Richard S. Pollard died unexpectedly Aug. 22, 2006, while at work. Dick was born June 30, 1934, in Milo, and spent his younger years on his family's potato farm in Masardis. He graduated from Kent's Hill School and enlisted in the Navy for four years. Dick spent 13 months at McMurdo Sound, South Pole, as a radio operator. In his later years, he developed a slide show of his experiences there and presented the show at many public gatherings. Dick completed his education under the GI Bill at the University of Maine - Orono, where he majored in agricultural engineering. Dick and his wife, Gladys, moved to Addison in 1983. He managed a blueberry farm for RH Foster for a number of years, and later worked at Pleasant Bay Bed and Breakfast and Llama Farm until he passed away. This year, Dick was due to receive his 50-year pin from the Pioneer Masonic Lodge in Ashland, a lodge founded by Dick's great-great-grandfather. Dick loved hunting, fishing and the Northern Maine Woods. He was treasurer of the Pleasant River Fish and Game Conservation Club. Dick had been a registered Maine guide. Dick is survived by his wife of 28 years, Gladys; two daughters, Melissa Pollard of Chester, N.H. and Jane Pollard of Goffstown, N.H.; his stepdaughters, Sharon F. Caso of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., Carol A. Wilkinson of Lubbock, Texas, Paula M. Nazzaro of Grove-land, Mass., and Susan A. Darcy of Raleigh, N.C.; nine grandchildren and one great-granddaughter. He is also survived by a brother, C. Owen Pollard of Norman, Okla. and many nieces and nephews. He will also be fondly missed by Megan. Dick will be remembered with fondness by his many friends in Addison and elsewhere. His was always a hand ready to help. We will miss him. In lieu of flowers, donations may be made to the Pleasant River Fish and Game Conservation Club, P.O. Box 261, Columbia Falls, ME 04623.

HARRY W. RICHARDS

DETROIT - Harry W. Richards, 69, died peacefully Aug. 24, 2006, at a Hartland health care facility after a long illness. He was born May 10, 1937, in Atkinson, the son of Guy R. and Alma L. (Smith) Richards. Harry was a woodsman for most of his life. He was a wonderful storyteller, enjoyed the outdoors especially while hunting and fishing. He was always ready to have a good game of cribbage. He is survived by his loving brothers and sisters and their spouses, Madeline and Gilbert Mann of Kingfield, Ivory and Leona Richards of Fort Fairfield, Luvera M. Chase of Derry, N.H., Althea Levesque and Red Devereux of Pittsfield, Floyd and Margaret Richards of Palmyra,

John and Lynn Richards of Londonderry, N.H., Franklin and Paula Richards of Winslow, Jenny and Bruce Stone of Brownville Junction, Clyde and Carol Richards of Burnham; and many nieces, nephews and cousins. His parents and two brothers, Ernest and Guy predeceased him. A celebration of Harry's life will be held noon Tuesday, Aug. 29, at the home of Floyd and Margaret Richards, 26 Richards Road, Palmyra.
