MEMORIAL DAY HISTORY

Memorial Day, originally called Decoration Day, is a day of remembrance for those who have died in our nation's service. There are many stories as to its actual beginnings, with over two dozen cities and towns laying claim to being the birthplace of Memorial Day. There is also evidence that organized women's groups in the South were decorating graves before the end of the Civil War: a hymn published in 1867, "Kneel Where Our Loves are Sleeping" by Nella L. Sweet carried the dedication "To The Ladies of the South who are Decorating the Graves of the Confederate Dead". While Waterloo N.Y. was officially declared the birthplace of Memorial Day by President Lyndon Johnson in May 1966, it's difficult to prove conclusively the origins of the day. It is more likely that it had many separate beginnings; each of those towns and every planned or spontaneous gathering of people to honor the war dead in the 1860's tapped into the general human need to honor our dead, each contributed honorably to the growing movement that culminated in Gen Logan giving his official proclamation in 1868.

It is not important who was the very first: what is important is that Memorial Day was established. Memorial Day is not about division. It is about reconciliation; it is about coming together to honor those who gave their all.

General John A. Logan

Memorial Day was officially proclaimed on 5 May 1868 by General John Logan, national commander of the Grand Army of the Republic, in his General Order No. 11, and was first observed on 30 May 1868, when flowers were placed on the graves of Union and Confederate soldiers at Arlington National Cemetery. The first state to officially recognize the holiday was New York in 1873. By 1890 it was recognized by all of the northern states. The South refused to became the first veterans' organization to nationally sell poppies. Two years later their "Buddy" Poppy program was selling artificial poppies made by disabled veterans. In 1948 the US Post Office honored Ms Michael for her role in founding the National Poppy movement by issuing a red 3 cent postage stamp with her likeness on it.

acknowledge the day, honoring their dead on separate days until after World War I (when the holiday changed from honoring just those who died fighting in the Civil War to honoring Americans who died fighting in any war). It is now celebrated in almost every State on the last Monday in May (passed by Congress with the National Holiday Act of 1971 (P.L. 90 - 363) to ensure a three day weekend for Federal holidays), though several southern states have an additional separate day for honoring the Confederate war dead: January 19 in Texas, April 26 in Alabama, Florida, Georgia, and Mississippi; May 10 in South Carolina; and June 3 (Jefferson Davis' birthday) in Louisiana and Tennessee.

In 1915, inspired by the poem "In Flanders Fields," Moira Michael replied with her own poem:

We cherish too, the Poppy red
 That grows on fields where valor led,
 It seems to signal to the skies
 That blood of heroes never dies.

She then conceived of an idea to wear red poppies on Memorial Day in honor of those who died serving the nation during war. She was the first to wear one, and sold poppies to her friends and co-workers with the money going to benefit servicemen in need. Later a Madam Guerin from France was visiting the United States and learned of this new custom started by Ms. Michael and when she returned to France, made artificial red poppies to raise money for war orphaned children and widowed women.

This tradition spread to other countries. In 1921, the Franco-American Children's League sold poppies nationally to benefit war orphans of France and Belgium. The League disbanded a year later and Madam Guerin approached the VFW for help. Shortly before Memorial Day in 1922 the VFW Yay! It's Community Calendar Time!!

Three Rivers Kiwanis of Milo/Brownville is once again selling Community Birthday Calendars. For years people in our area have been ordering these to commemorate a birthday, anniversary or memorial of loved ones. Clubs or other groups can use the calendars to list their weekly or monthly meeting dates. The calendars can also be used to honor a loved one who is serving their country. Each calendar is only $5.00 and includes up to 4 listings. Each additional listing is 25-cents. If your club or organization would like to list their weekly meetings, the cost would be a one-time charge of $12, and each calendar would be $5. To list monthly meetings, a one time charge of $4, and $5 for each calendar. Here is a chance to publicize your club and help Kiwanis with their projects celebrating children.

Three Rivers Kiwanis, Milo - Brownville

Minutes of Meeting on May 2, 2007

Fourteen members gathered on Wed. morning at The Restaurant for breakfast and the weekly meeting of Three Rivers Kiwanis. Joining us were four members of Dover-Foxcroft Kiwanis and Penquis Valley Key Club member, Amber Benoit.

Eben DeWitt led the pledge of Allegiance and Paul Grindle offered the Morning Prayer.

Birthdays for the week included Dottie Brown on May 6th.

Communications included a thank you from Kiwanis International Foundation for our donation and an invitation from the Dover-Foxcroft Homecoming Comm. to participate in their parade in Aug.

Happy dollars were given for the spring weather and the work that Frank Cochrane does with the Key Club and the Library kids and also for being a great dancer, for golf and fishing, Red Sox beating the Yankees five out of six games. Other happy dollars were given because the World Series isn't played in May; to welcome Paul back from Arizona, and for our terrific, active Key Club.

The Variety Show is underway and dress rehearsal is scheduled for Thurs. May 3 at 6:00p.m.

The Key Club reported that they are working at Manna in Bangor on Mon. May 7th and will be providing books for children. Their next meeting will be Wed. evening, May 9th at 6:00 p.m. at Penquis Valley H.S.

The Kids Corner at the Library will be held Wed. at 3:00 p.m.

Community Calendar Chairperson, Sheri Conley, passed out forms for gathering birthday and anniversary dates from customers. Calendar sales have started - the cost is $ 5.00 each and includes four-birthdays/anniversaries/in memoriam. Additional listings are $.25 each. Please contact any Kiwanian if you are interested in purchasing a calendar and have not been contacted.

Our speaker for the day was member, Neil Hamlin, Attorney at Law, with the Hayes Law Office in Dover-Foxcroft. Neil's topic for the day was "Growing Old Thoughtfully." This primarily covered the aspects of what to do with what you have accumulated during your lifetime.

Some people find death and demise hard to face and some need some prodding to take care of matters. Everyone should have a will to name a Personal Representative and to carry out your specific wishes for distributing your estate to those persons whom you want it to go to. This is particularly important for persons who have been married more than once and have children from different marriages, including stepchildren.

Another item of interest was transferring property to children to avoid nursing home expenses. There are two schools of thought regarding this: one being that you should pay your own way while others feel the state should pay the expense. Therefore, many people transfer their property to children. But laws are changing and before doing this, legal advice is strongly urged. There are circumstances where making this transfer may prove to be a huge mistake.

Neil provided some valuable information to all of us and we thank him for his presentation.

Upcoming speakers include Cindy Brown, Child Development Services, on May 9th and Ben Kittredge speaking about Bird Flu on May 23. May 16th is the business meeting and May 30th is a fifth Wednesday so details will be forthcoming regarding this.
